The Biowarfare Industry Has Captured the American Mind. How Do We Overthrow It?

Political economist Toby Rogers, Ph.D., argues the COVID-19 pandemic marks an economic shift to Big Pharma profiting from harming health via vaccines, then treating side effects, all coordinated by a biowarfare complex now influencing government agencies, academia and media to drive this "negative-sum game."

Last week I traveled to Connecticut to participate in a four-day writers' retreat hosted by Jeffrey Tucker and the Brownstone Institute. It was amazing.

Speakers presented on a topic or question for 15 minutes that was followed by a discussion for 15 minutes. Below are my remarks from the retreat (lightly edited):

I. Introduction

Over the next 15 minutes I want to talk about the crisis of Covid, the economic crisis we face, and how our economy has changed over the last four years.

The crisis of Covid is not just that the ruling class killed a lot of people.

The crisis of Covid is that the fundamental basis of our economy shifted from a positive-sum game to the worst negative-sum game in human history.

So what do I mean by that and what are the implications of that?

Let's start by defining some terms. Economists love to talk about games as a way of modeling the different choices we face and the decisions we make as individuals and as a society.

As I imagine you know, in a positive-sum game the total gains of the participants are greater than the total losses.

This is what Adam Smith marveled about in The Wealth of Nations. The butcher, the baker, and the brewer buy goods and services from each other and everyone is better off than they would have been in the absence of this exchange.

The synergies that come from the free exchange of goods and ideas are the essence of liberalism.

As we discussed previously, the Scottish economy in the 18th century when Smith was writing was fueled by the great wealth generated from slave-grown tobacco.

So obviously the slaves kidnapped from Africa and transported to the New World did not experience a positive-sum game.

Then there are zero-sum games. In a zero-sum game, the gains of one participant are exactly balanced by the losses of another participant.

Gambling and sports are classic examples of zero-sum games.

Mafia-style economies can also be viewed as zero-sum games. Some people do well at the expense of others. Profits come from power and control rather than innovation. It's a lousy way to run an economy.

Then there are negative-sum games.

In a negative-sum game, the total losses of the participants exceed the total gains.

Wars are often cited as negative-sum games.

The resources expended in terms of lives lost, destruction of infrastructure, and economic impact outweigh any potential gains.

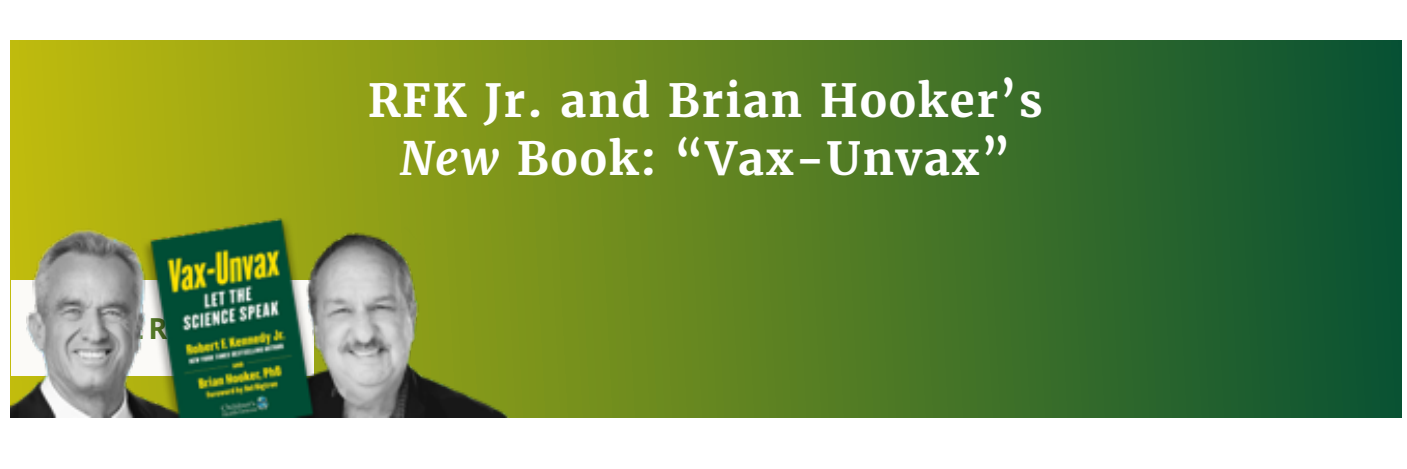
Now let's apply these definitions to our current situation.

When our country was founded, white men participated in a positive-sum economy — free and equal exchange between sovereign citizens. With the Civil War, the franchise was extended to people of color.

With the gains of the civil rights movement in the twentieth century, that positive-sum economic game was extended to the whole of society.

Covid marks an abrupt shift from a positive-sum game to the most extreme negative-sum game in history. I take the point that this had been coming on for fifty years if not longer. But Covid marked the moment where the ruling class revealed their true intentions.

By Covid I mean, the development and release of SARS-CoV-2, the murderous hospital protocols, government edicts that blocked access to safe and effective medicines, and the creation of the most dangerous vaccines in human history.



II. The Great Poisoning as a business model and economic system

Robert F. Kennedy Jr. actually figured out this shift right before Covid and I think it's the most important economic insight of our lifetime.

At a speech at a fundraiser in Florida in early 2020 before we realized that Covid would be a thing, Robert F. Kennedy Jr. explained that Big Pharma globally makes about $50 billion a year from vaccines but then makes another $500 billion a year from treatment of vaccine injuries.

This stunned me at first, but when I started to do the math I realized that he is right. We'll return to this in a moment.

With Covid, Big Pharma basically doubled its money with another $50 billion a year in Covid vaccine revenue followed by another $500 billion a year from treatment of Covid vaccine injuries. That's why Pfizer is going into the cancer treatment business for example.

Let's walk through each piece of this slowly because it's really mind-blowing.

Vaccines are an incredibly difficult topic to study.

- The blacklisting and censorship are so severe that anyone who goes near this topic with an open mind is committing career suicide.
- There are no double-blind, randomized controlled trials with a true saline placebo and so there are no proper meta analyses or systematic reviews of vaccines or the vaccine schedule.
- The studies that do exist are low quality and contaminated by financial conflicts of interest.
- I wrote an article about this problem a couple months ago titled, "Systematic review and meta-analysis are broken."

It basically takes four or five years to read all of the pro studies and identify their weaknesses and then work through the alternative literature to find the censored studies, read the documents turned over via the Freedom of Information Act and in discovery in the courts, and to interview enough parents of vaccine injured children to understand the scope and dynamics of the problem.

Almost no one has the bandwidth to do that. It's actually an interesting epistemological problem because the only people who are willing to take this on are parents of vaccine injured children and a handful of academics who are naïve enough to think that they can change the world — and then they get lynched by the drug cartel.

But if one does the hard yards one will see that autism, ADHD, autoimmune disorders including arthritis, deadly allergies, asthma, Alzheimer's, childhood cancers, diabetes, eczema, seizure disorders, and sex dysphoria are vaccine injuries.

The various studies that prove that are generally censored by Google (or de-ranked into oblivion) and so you have to use alternative methods and networks for finding them. All of these medical conditions require expensive treatments over a lifetime.

I am conscious of the fact that many other toxicants also increased over the last fifty years — pesticides, plastics, fire retardants, SSRIs, Tylenol, electromagnetic frequencies, etc. — and all of these toxicants certainly contribute to the rise in chronic illness.

And I'm aware that many of these conditions existed prior to vaccines. But the sharp rise in the number of people with these conditions is highly correlated with the ever-expanding vaccine schedule and independent scholars have established causation between vaccines and each of the medical conditions that I listed (see for example, "Vaccines and Autoimmunity" by Shoenfeld et al., "Vax-Unvax: Let the Science Speak"by Brian Hooker, and "Miller's Review of Critical Vaccine Studies" by Neil Miller.)

Injected vaccines are unique in that they:

- bypass the body's usual defense mechanisms against toxicants;
- are given in bolus doses in utero and during infancy when the kidneys, liver, and immune system are still developing; and
- usually include adjuvants that are designed to increase the body's reaction against them.

So if you look at the list of blockbuster drugs that generate billions of dollars a year in revenue you see:

- Humira which is used to treat arthritis;
- Keytruda and Opdivo which are used to treat cancer;
- Dupixent for asthma and eczema;
- Trulicity for diabetes; and
- Skyrizi, Cosentyx, and Enbrel to treat plaque psoriasis which is an autoimmune disorder.

These are all in the top 20 blockbuster drugs in the world.

Then there is Risperdal for autism, Ritalin for ADHD, and Epi pens for severe allergic reactions, and these drugs generate several billion dollars a year in revenue as well.

What most people don't realize is that these are all treatments for vaccine injuries. The childhood vaccine schedule creates customers for life.

My specialty is modeling the costs of autism. A study I conducted with Mark Blaxill and Cynthia Nevison showed about $300 billion a year in current costs rising to over a trillion dollars a year in costs by the early 2030s and $5.5 trillion a year by 2060.

The costs of autism will cause the economic and political collapse of the United States in our lifetime.

And that's just one condition. The other chronic conditions I just mentioned incur hundreds of billions of dollars a year in costs as well. Hospitals, doctors, and Pharma do not get all of that money — there are also costs associated with education, support, and lost wages.

With Covid shots we see increased rates of myocarditis, pericarditis, cardiac arrest, strokes, turbo cancer, rapid onset dementia, blood clots, and sudden adult death.

The $50 billion that Pfizer and Moderna made from Covid shots in 2021 and 2022 is just the tip of the iceberg. The big money is in treating the injured.

So for example, Eliquis, which is used to treat blood clots, generated 18 billion dollars in sales for Bristol Myers Squibb and Pfizer in 2022 and of course blood clots are a side effect of Covid vaccines.

So instead of the free and equal exchange of goods and services between sovereign citizens, we have an economy based on bondage — people are poisoned and they spend all of their earnings and stored family wealth just trying to survive.

III. Pharma is not the only industry engaged in a negative-sum game

The military industrial complex does this too, by destroying countries and then rebuilding them.

The food industry engages in a negative sum game by making food addictive and ignoring nutrition.

Social media companies promise connection but actually leave people lonely, anxious, and depressed.

Psychiatry is a negative sum game; the more the psychiatrists treat the worse the problems get.

I'm sure you can think of other examples.

The point is that we live in this sort of penal colony economy where we dig a hole and then fill it up again over and over and over and then we're surprised when we don't get anywhere.

IV. So what are the macroeconomic implications of all of this?

Over time, the consequence of this system is that all wealth drains out of the middle and lower classes and goes into the hands of the Feudal Lords at the top of this negative sum game.

The result will be endless economic stagnation, recessions, and depressions even as the GDP looks great because Pharma is generating all of this seeming economic activity as they take up an ever-larger share of the economy.

In the very near future we will reach a point where the global economy sinks into a depression. And when that happens:

- We will not be able to use Keynesian stimulus to flood the economy with more money because that would trigger catastrophic inflation. So the Democrats' key policy tool is off the table.
- Austerity won't work because that will kill demand. So Republican's key policy tool is off the table.
- The ruling class will somehow try to blame us, in the crazy way that they do, for the economic crisis.
- And when this happens, quite literally, the only way to generate trillions of dollars of economic stimulus to jump-start the economy will be for government to STOP poisoning the entire population.

Vaccine schedules for the whole population should not exist. Individualized N-of-1 medicine is the only way forward. If we prohibit vaccine mandates for school and work, over time the trillions of dollars that are currently going to Pharma to treat vaccine injury, will go back to individuals and families and they can spend that money on whatever they want — education, housing, transportation, starting a business — in the free and equal exchange between sovereign citizens.

That's how we get back to a positive-sum economy with genuine growth once again.

So we face an information problem — most people don't realize that this is happening and the first twenty-five times that they hear it normality bias will keep them from comprehending it.

And we face a collective action problem in that the benefits of the current system are concentrated and the rewards of moving to a different system are diffuse.

But at the end of the day this is just a political organizing problem. The status quo is untenable, a bus headed over a cliff. The science is on our side.

We just have to build a movement that is large enough that when the moment comes we will be able to force government to do the right thing to build the better world our hearts know is possible.

"The Wuhan Cover-Up"
by Robert F. Kennedy Jr.
ORDER NOW

V. The Wuhan Cover-Up

That's where I initially intended to end my remarks. But then I started reading Robert F. Kennedy Jr.'s new book, The Wuhan Cover-Up, on the plane. It's astonishingly good, perhaps the most important book in American history.

So let me just say a brief word about his book and how it fits into the argument that I just made.

Bobby's thesis is that the U.S. has a massive biowarfare program going back to World War I.

After World War II the U.S. recruited the top Nazi and Japanese biowarfare scientists to expand our program.

When the Cold War ended we recruited the top Russian biowarfare scientists to join the U.S. program and our biowarfare program kept growing in spite of the absence of any viable foreign adversaries.

Now there is a new class in society: 13,000 psychopaths who work at over 400 U.S. biowarfare labs.

SARS-CoV-2 and everything that followed is their work.

What's clear to me now is that the biowarfare industry has captured:

- Pharma,
- academia,
- the military,
- the media,
- the political system,
- the regulatory agencies,
- the intelligence agencies, and
- international organizations.

And with the help of a massive amount of propaganda, the biowarfare industry has also captured the American mind.

This is our economy now. The tentacles of the biowarfare industrial complex reach into nearly all sectors of the economy. So Bobby's book is consistent with what I said earlier but the situation as he describes it is so much worse.

Our economic system now is the opposite of liberalism. It's the fulfillment of the dreams of the Third Reich. With CRISPR, the biowarfare industry can infinitely change the DNA and RNA of humans and viruses. They're bad at it right now. But the temptation is too great, they will never stop playing God.

Why hasn't big business pushed back against this? Companies including Walmart, Apple, Ford, and Nike have a lot to lose from this widespread destruction of American society.

My hunch is that it's because the biowarfare industry has captured capital itself. Pandemics, chronic disease, and response is a growth industry — one of the only growth industries on Earth at this point. DNA is the new terra nullius to be conquered and colonized.

So first it was the childhood schedule, then Covid, and now the plan is for new pandemics as far as the eye can see.

That's the system that we are fighting to overthrow.

Fluoridation policy is another negative-sum game. Dentists disingenuously claim they are promoting something that cost them money, but ADA knew early on that fluoridation provided income streams for dentists:
A. Good public relations in order to market their profitable fluoride varnishes that puts tens or 100s of thousands of dollars into the dentist's pockets
B. Stained teeth of over 10% of consumers to the point that they'd seek expensive cosmetic dentistry
C. Made teeth more brittle (dental fluorosis), resulting in crowns in young adulthood.

Any reduction in cavities is somewhere between clinically inconsequential and imaginary. But the harm to teeth and bones, not to mention bodies and brains, is incalculable. See FluorideLawsuit dot com / Science

We need to turbo boost alternative economies. We need to buy, sell, and trade without using any federal reserve notes--ever!. We need to figure out how to get masses to stop paying income tax; stop feeding the beast! We need to have a large percentage of people growing healthy, toxin-free food. We need to STOP using anything of Google, Youtube, Microsoft, Apple, Facebook, Big Pharma, the banking system, etc.. It's not that hard. But if it looks too hard for you, then you should just keep on eating the blue pill and drinking the koolaid. There is no hope for humanity, NONE, if we can't sacrifice the stupid stuff we're addicted to. Just pray.

We spend the great majority of the energy we expend on things that do us great harm; toxic, malnourishing food, toxic medicine, psychologically handicapping mind control non-education, endless warfare that benefits no human beings on Earth, not even those poor devolved souls who make trillions from it, everything on television, etc..

We've been doing all this for generations; it's simply accelerating at an exponential rate. The best time to stop it was a long time ago. If there is to be a future, this moment will soon become that long time ago. Stop complaining. Do something. You may seem very small and weak, like a mere hobbit up against Lord Sauron and all of Mordor (and all of your mind controlled family and friends) but every little positive action is contagious. This is your epic adventure. Do stuff now!

It is not that hard except that a person has to be financially able to do such things. I have found out that we will be forced into this one way or the other financially, either the banks will do it or we will be barred from entry and access to services when this is all ready to go. I had an old android phone that had an update a while back, i thought it was just for security and what have you, but I think this update contained all sorts of biometric gathering applications that really how am I to know that the camera and phone itself is not gathering my fingerprint, retina and facial data in the background non consensually without my direct knowledge. Then, during Covid we were at these stores and guess what they also were gathering our biometric data, the new REAL ids that we will all be forced to have very soon, the deadline is in May I think. I suspect, and yes I had to get one, I did not see a choice, they simply did not offer one when I had to go get my license something else forced upon us in order to drive a car and really to do anything we must show a photo ID making all those arguments that they are a racist tool to require them to vote really is null and void and a scam, where were these people when REAL ID was forced upon all of us to do anything once they are fully in effect, if we do not have one we cannot fly, and then after that, all the rest of it that is in lockstep will fall into place just like what happened with Covid.

Democracy, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights died on November 22, 1963. And as much of a cliche as it sounds, I'll never forget what I was doing the moment I heard the news.

Excellent summary however, government is the mechanism of brain-washing that makes the inevitability of this dystopia so convincing. The States are empowered to blow this whole thing apart if only people wake up and act.

'We the people' do not have any power to fight it. Majority of us are completely oblivious to listed trends, being busy with working and taking care about family. RFK Jr's book will not change anything as well. It sells poorly showing that people are tired reading about such subjects.

Do not read this column if already suffering for chronic depression...my advice. 🤔
BTW: there was no GOF engineered coronia virus in Wuhan or elswhere.. There is no proof for it. Perhaps small consolation. Nobody can construct respiratory RNA virus with such long lasting ability to persistently spread around the globe. Injections are the problem, therefore avoid them.

I think the published research papers are to keep interest going in the lie that is the science of viruses and germ theory to keep the money flowing and it is a sham and many have stated this who realized it and were in that industry, they have to continue to prove they are looking at this as a serious threat, and they have found these things when the reality is that it is gain of function biowarfare that it appears based on Dr. Judy Mikotits' statements that most viruses since the 1980s are made in labs and then injected as particles in one vaccine that then leaves behind the makings of a virus to be activated at some point or a disease is originated and then some radio frequency, microwave weaponry event potentially activates it.

That is what Barrie Trower admitted is possible with these weapons. His statements were to the effect that a dormant virus in the human body can be activated in large areas using the frequency spectrum giving the appearance of a pandemic like was done and how they could predict where the next outbreak would be. Otherwise, prior pandemics that were the result of warfare tactics were carried out using the flesh of dead

"Chihuahua dancing in ballet costume" goes viral to millions of people but "We the People" can't get THIS information out? This is an easy concept to grasp and the article shows how easy it is to summarize for anyone to understand:
"Beginning with WWI various countries and their militaries started experimenting with bioweapons to wipe out mass numbers of the enemy. Over 100 years it turned into a product of profit with the release of experimental disease and "cure"."
Done.

Once people realize we CAN live without mass vaccination, we start to remove that power from both big pharma and MEDIA (who are the worst proponents of it) by simply saying "no".

We the People can claim a new "war on drugs". Just say no to new and recurring vaccines. Isn't that hard. Let it go viral.

Welcome new contributor T. Rogers, PhD, to CHD. We use the word 'bioeconomy' in the U.S. instead of biowafare industry, but it has yet to be proved that Covid-19 is bioweapon. The author states, “In a negative-sum game,the total losses of the participants exceed the total gains".

Implying Covid-19 was a negative sum game for the ordinary citizen, a positive sum game for ‘some’ of big pharma who profited immensely. The author also stated, "So obviously the slaves kidnapped from Africa and transported to the New World did not experience a positive-sum game.”

What about the settling of Australia and the ‘genocide’ of the native population. Wikipedia states, “Following the loss of its American colonies in 1783, the British Government sent a fleet of ships, the First Fleet, under the command of Captain Arthur Phillip, to establish a new penal colony in New South Wales. "

Criminals, but no murderers in those English penal colonies, according to Australian historians. Definitely a positive sum gain for the English ex-criminals who after serving their sentences and became outstanding citizens of Australia, and a continued negative loss for the native Australians.

No doubt you must be aware that Trump really did not Ok it so much as those actually in control did, assuming that you are very much aware that it does not matter who is in control. All of these presidents as far back as I can tell have been subservient to the bankers, we had Geral Ford institute a nation wide campaign to vaccinate every man, woman and child based on the same script that was used for this "plandemic". Rothschild's will force the United States into compliance when it is time to pay up and that has been pretty much every war, and they want us to pay in blood clearly though it is all philanthropy just as it is with Israel according to them. The same that created the state of Israel in the first place are now attempting to take us down in order to force us into the new transhuman dystopia that is the fourth industrial revolution that has us all hooked up to the cloud that is the Internet of all things that calls us "wet ware" In which Bill Gates' Microsoft no doubt with the aid of the same forces responsible for all this eugenic population control applied for a patent to use the human body as a power source. This is right around the same time that the first IOT patent was granted to Richard Walker around that same time. Also around that same time is when the first SARS COV 1 appeared in 2003 and was patented by HHS that was the version evidently used in the PCR test. I am of the belief that there is a connection between these "viruses"

"13,000 psychopaths who work at over 400 U.S. biowarfare labs."

What concerns me really, is that many more psychopaths work hard to start NATO war with Russia, most likely within next 5 years. They talk about it OPENLY. Elite, globalists and their military puppets need 5 years to complete and gather supplies for underground shelters. By that time we will be around 2030...consider agenda 2030 , that essentially calls for DEPOPULATION. We have 5 years..that I will try to enjoy . Vaccines, bioweapons, big-pharma, economy? .these are minor issues.

Let's not forget the program REX 84 that allows attorney's general to sign off and to basically add people to watch lists to be placed in FEMA internment camps, this is actually real and is not a conspiracy theory either as has been suggested by fact checkers. FEMA I do believe is listed in executive order or is added by way of amendments to 12333 and in a way the human experimentation listed there allows people in the United States to be legally put into these Gulags to be experimented upon with any sort of weapons in the arsenal being tested for national security by every agency listed in that order.

These people either must be put on the secret TSDB list by someone or they can simply be volunteered in some other way as long as it is for testing weapons for national security and law enforcement purposes. Those suffering in this program that is going on secretly in the United States, these people are being silenced, there are many lawsuits attesting to this not just here but globally. Most who suffer from this equate this to a silent kill program of eugenics equivalent to what has been reported by microwave weapons expert Barrie Trower whose testimonies have been used to successfully go after schools for installing towers near schools.

If anyone wants to know why our border is under assault, this might explaIn why.

Toby, Thank you for this enlightening article. It likens the "new" economy to the old fractional reserve banking system, locking in 10X the profit for each fraction of investment. Only the DOD and government funded by our taxes are the ones paying for R&D. It is a GREAT racket for making profits at the expense of the people. An excellent book goes deeper into the deep connections of the bioweaponeers to this transition. It points out that there was a Tripartate Agreement between the British, the Soviets, and the US to keep the plan under top secret clearance, so none of the governments would squeal on the others when they broke the laws against developing and using bioweapons regularly. I highly recommend the book: The Sleeper Agent, t*he Rise of Lyme Disease, Chronic Illness and the Great Imitator Antigens of Biological Warfare*, by A.W. Finnegan. The author translated the papers written by , Erich Traub, (German/Russian/British/US Bioengineer) from German to English and does a very comprehensive analysis of the collusion between the hedgemonies that created this big mess we are in now.

The Covid fiasco was the clearest signal that the National Security State was in control. Repression will only increase along with surveillance, censorship, and harsher laws. Politicians and political parties will never be the answer because they're the servants to the Masters: $$$$$$$$. It's the American people who are going to have to form some kind of defense. Please see the documentaries of Dr. Steven Greer on what's occurring in this country (and the world).

I think that it may difficult for us to understand, but the Rockefeller family and the Rothschild family too has been tied to military and very soon they began to experiment and distribute vaccines, both families have invested in biotech for a long time. If most of us recognize when these scientists admit that vaccines became used widespread, it happened when there was a war mostly, they experimented upon soldiers before sending them to war in 1917-1919.

If vaccines can at times be made leaky, maybe they always are to a degree, mass injection certainly seems to be, so we might be able to realize that Rockefellers were right there with UN/WHO at the beginning, they were closely associated with the military and therefore the vaccine industry has been sorry to say a weapon of warfare.

If we can wrap our minds around this fact, we might begin to see that much like the chemicals and poisons that came from the Germans in World War II, that vaccines are potentially another dual use weapon of warfare, they are closely linked just like the internet was used for war.

Why are poisons in these injections and many others that may purposely contain highly carcinogenic metals and other particles and even parasites. Should we be investigating
